With the opening of school in the fall Miss Clara Marquis who has served most satisfactorily as music supervisor in other towns in Union Number Ten for two years, succeeded Mr. Ralph V. Matthews. Miss Marquis' training and experience well qualifies her to supervise the musical instruction of the Auburn school children.

The teachers of the Severance and Village Schools have served, both efficiently and faithfully, for several years. In these times, when there is a scarcity of good teachers, the citizens of the town should realize the advantage of capable teachers. Every effort should be made to retain the present staff.

Various additions as regards textbooks have been made during the current year. Our main concern has been, as it should be, the providing of the necessary reading material. As a result work books have been provided for the primary grades in addition to basic readers for grades one and four to supplement others provided in previous years. A new language series was installed in grades five through eight to replace an out-moded set. The difficult social science series which had been used for several years was discarded in favor of texts which were well within the grasp of those pupils who had to study them. Sets of histories and civics were purchased for the seventh and eighth grades to supplant the social science texts. Other books furnished were: arithmetics for grades three, four and five, geographies for the third grade, plus various items necessary to supplement those already in use.

Appreciation should be shown Mr. Charles McLaughlin who has proven to be a most generous and public spirited citizen. His gift of a fine steel flag pole for the new Village School adds much to the school lot.

When the occasion warrants bulletin boards and wardrobe doors should be installed in the new school classrooms. These additions, along with other minor items, should make the Village School one which the citizens of Auburn may be proud.

The appearance of the Severance School will be greatly improved if, in the near future, the outside of the building is painted and the grounds graded. Inside painting and improvements should not be neglected.

As I conclude my duties as superintendent of the Auburn schools I wish to express a sincere word of thanks for the cooperation and loyalty of the school board, teachers, pupils, and my other friends in the town. It will be pleasant to remember the many fine associations in our work together. The helpfulness of all is greatly appreciated.

"Never was there a time when the profession of education carried such a heavy responsibility, never a time when its members might feel a greater pride in the significance of their work, never a better opportunity to serve the nation. Let our profession but answer boldly the call of the crisis and we shall fashion, even out of the harsh necessities of war, a school system more fit for the education of free men."

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD I. ERICKSON,

Superintendent of Schools.
